Summer Course on Persian Culture: A Semiotic Perspective available

May 6, 2014 to Jul 29, 2014

"Love what you do"

Would you be interested in registering for my summer 6-credit course in Persian Culture, an interactive, proactive, peace-building-oriented course? This course is unlike any other course, unique in form and content. We will revisit many generally-accepted notions, concepts and ideas; deconstruct our modern mercantile war-prone society to help reconstruct a post-modern nature-friendly peaceful society on Earth for generations to come. If you are a student in international studies, international affairs, political science or sociology, but also psychology, linguistics, drama studies, translation studies, international law, philosophy, women's studies, history... any social sciences and humanities, and if you are not afraid of not being politically correct, and if you are looking for a summer course, and if it somehow fits your schedule ... this course is for you! I am looking for students like you! Bring your friends.

GL/HUMA 2602 6.0 SU (EN) Persian Culture: A Semiotic Perspective

GL/LIN 2602 6.0 SU (EN) Persian Culture: A Semiotic Perspective

This is a multidisciplinary (I should say trans-disciplinary) course. It is also a fun course: Lots of learning minus the stress. Please pass the message. I'd like to have over thirty participants who look forward to helping to change the world and to finding paradise on Earth.

In taking this course, you'll love what you're doing. I am confident that you will find it an unforgettable experience.

Shodja Eddin Ziaïan,

Doctorat d'État, Peace Economics, University of Paris II, Panthéon-Sorbonne

Post doctorate studies, Peace Science, University of Pennsylvania

This Glendon-College-course is offered by the Program of Linguistics and Language Studies, cross-listed with the Department of Humanities, open to all York University Students, and it is a General Education course. May 6th – July 29th 2014, Tuesdays and Thursdays, 6-9. For more information, contact: ziaian@glendon.yorku.ca.

YU START: New Student Resources A-Z

To all Students and Faculty:

YU Start has recently updated their website with a resource page that includes helpful links to a variety of York University webpages. This would be an assistive tool for all incoming and current York University students.

You can access the resources at the following link:

Seminars / Workshops

Time Series Analysis

An Introduction for Social Scientists

Dates: July 14-18, 2014

URL: <http://bit.ly/1qmWKJl>

Location: Ann Arbor, MI

Instructor: Mark Pickup, Simon Fraser University and the University of Oxford

About: Statistical models can be applied to time series data—chronological sequences of observations—to examine the movement of social science variables over time (e.g., public opinion, government policy, judicial decisions, and socioeconomic measures), allowing analysts to estimate relationships between variables and test hypotheses. This five-day workshop introduces time series methods and their application in social science research. We will focus on conceptualization and practice, with some attention to the underlying statistical theory.

The workshop will provide a comprehensive discussion of the core concepts in time series analysis, including autoregressive, moving-average, unit-root processes, and the two most important assumptions underlying time series models: stationarity and exogeneity. The lab component of the workshop will demonstrate the use of, and assumptions underlying, common models of time series data: autoregressive distributive-lag, moving average (autocorrelated error), differenced data, ARMA, equilibrium (error) correction, and vector autoregression models.

Prerequisites: A sound background in linear regression models is assumed but prior training in time series analysis is not required. The course will make use of basic algebra. Some familiarity with Stata would be helpful, but for those without that familiarity, a crash course on Stata will be provided during the first class session.

About Us

The ICPSR Summer Program is internationally recognized as the preeminent resource for basic and advanced training in social science research methodologies and technologies.

We offer courses in research design, quantitative reasoning, statistical methods, and data processing. Our goal is to integrate methods of quantitative analysis within a broader context of substantive social research.

June Activities at the Career Centre

The Career Centre is pleased to provide you with a PDF of the calendar of activities for the month of June 2014. Alternatively, you may refer to our online calendar.

This month we're offering two of our popular Career Exploration workshops in different formats and different locations.

On Thursday, June 5th, Making Degree Choices: The Other People Factor will be offered from 2:00-3:00 pm via webinar. This workshop will explore how family, culture and other people can influence students' career decisions.

On Wednesday, June 18th, Getting Started: What Can I Do With My Degree? Will be taking place at the Learning Commons (at Scott Library) from 10:00-11:30 am In this workshop students will learn how the skills they're developing in their degrees and the experiences they're gaining will help build a foundation for their futures.

We've also customized our Job Search workshops to students from specific Faculties and programs of study.

Resume & Cover Letter Writing for Liberal Arts students will take place on Wednesday, June 4th from 12:30-2:30pm.

Resume & Cover Letter Writing for Business & Technology students will take place on Thursday, June 19th from 2:00-4:00pm.

Students interested in using LinkedIn to support their job search efforts are invited to attend the Creating a Professional LinkedIn Profile workshop on June 23rd from 10:30 am-12:30 pm. This hands-on workshop, held in the 034 Founders College computer lab, will provide students with tips on crafting an effective profile that reflects their personal brand; compose, edit and improve their profile to stand out as a candidate; and learn how to maximize the benefits of LinkedIn to research career options and find a job! Attendees of this workshop will have the option to get their pictures taken to use as part of their profile.

On Thursday, June 26th from 1:30-3:30 pm, we will be offering the On-the-Job Success workshop to support students looking for tips on how to transition effectively into the workplace. In this workshop, students will learn about workplace etiquette and expectations, qualities that employers value most, and how to make and maintain a positive impression in order to cultivate long-term professional relationships.

Students are encouraged to register for workshops and other activities through the Career Centre's online system.

The Career Centre has over 700 non-circulating resources to help students research careers, industries and sectors, learn about opportunities for further studies, and assist them in their job search. Here are some new additions to our Career Resource Library:

101 Careers in Counseling by Shannon Hodges

Choosing a Career in International Development: A Practical Guide to Working in the Professions of International Development by Donovan Russell

The Digital Creative's Survival Guide: Everything You Need for a Successful Career in Web, App, Multimedia and Broadcast Design by Paul Wyatt

Best Careers for Teachers: Making the Most of Your Teaching Degree by Learning Express

Careers in Criminal Justice by Coy H. Johnston

Feel free to share this information broadly with students, new graduates and colleagues. If you would like to have a contact added or you would like to be removed from this distribution list, please let me know.

Learning Skills Services-June Workshop Calendar

Learning Skills Services would like to provide you with the workshop calendar for the month of June. We offer a range of workshops throughout the summer session in the areas of:

- Study Secrets,
- Time Management,

- Reading and Note-Taking and
- Exam Preparation.

Throughout the summer term, our workshops will be held in the Sound and Moving Image Library (SMIL), Screening Room 124, Scott Library.

We also encourage students to participate in our Passport to Success program where students will receive a certificate after attending EIGHT Learning Skills Services workshops during their time as a York student – a valuable addition to any academic portfolio or resumé!

It would be greatly appreciated if you could distribute the attached calendar to students, fellow staff and faculty. Students can find out more information of these workshops on-line at: lss.info.yorku.ca , while receiving workshop reminders and study tips via twitter @mysuccessyorku.

As a reminder, Learning Skills is one of the services offered through Counselling & Disability Services. These services are offered to all York University undergraduate and graduate students. For more information, visit us on-line at: lss.info.yorku.ca

Public Sector Change Leadership – New Zealand Experience

This is advance notice of a world-class happening in Wellington, New Zealand in November 2015. Wellington, called 'the coolest little capital on the planet', is celebrating 150 years as New Zealand's capital city. And New Zealand is 30 years on from the origins of groundbreaking New Public Management reforms, with a wealth of experience and learning to share.

The program planned is innovative, relevant, and engaging and is presented in three-part harmony:

1. Action learning leadership development built around a practical project with organizational outcomes (22 November to 2 December)
2. Change leadership conference reinforced by international experts and site visits (24-26 November)
3. Biennial writers and readers festival featuring public debate of challenging issues (27-28 November).

Political and public service change leaders attending the program will discover the value proposition of acquiring new thinking, practices, and connections.

To register, express your interest, or get more information, please contact profdev@vuw.ac.nz.

Summer Workshops on Research Methods

A special series of non-credit, no-fee, workshops for graduate students, 4th year students planning to begin graduate studies and others interested in brushing up on their basic research skills. You may attend any workshop or all of the workshops depending on your interest.

Please Note: During the workshop sessions dealing with statistics participants who wish, will have the opportunity to learn not only the mathematical theory but also how to calculate the statistics presented and how to use them in research (if they choose). All of this “technical work” will be presented and taught using EXCEL. Those who wish can purchase an inexpensive and very good guidebook to using Excel for statistical work. Pace, Larry (2013) The Excel Data and Statistics Cookbook, Third Ed. Available for $14.83 (US) at <http://www.lulu.com> as an e-book (downloads as a PDF which is yours forever). MPPAL student can apply to have the cost of the book rebated as a program expense. If you do wish to learn the “technical work” it is advisable to bring a laptop to the relevant workshops.

For more information, please contact the workshop leader: Prof. Daniel Cohn, dcohn@yorku.ca or 416-736-2100 ext. 77276

A more complete syllabus with additional suggested electronic readings will be posted shortly on Prof. Cohn's website on Monday May 5th at: <http://www.yorku.ca/dcohn/courses.html>

All sessions are in MC140 (The McLaughlin College Senior Common Room) and will start at 7pm. Light refreshments will be available.

- Thurs. May 29th Research as a Social Science and as a Public Policy Pursuit / Getting Started with Excel
- Thurs. June 5th From Question to Execution -- Research Design Ensuring Validity and Reliability: Dilemmas of Qualitative and Quantitative Research
- Thurs. June 19th Qualitative Research, Documentary Evidence and 'Qualitative Data Sets'
- Thurs. June 26th Qualitative Research: Key Informant Interviewing and Participant Observer Methods
- Thurs. July 17th Describing Data with Graphs and Numbers
- Thurs. July 24th Describing Relationships between Data with Graphs and Crosstabs
- Thurs. July 31st Margin of Error, Confidence and Significance (Z and one sample “t”)

- Thurs. Aug 7th Are the relationships meaningful?
Part I: Return of the Crosstab
- Thurs. Aug 14th Are the relationships meaningful?
Part II: Two Sample “t” tests and ANOVA
- Thurs Aug 21st Regression Analysis

2014 Causal Inference Workshops: Main and Advanced

Northwestern University and Duke University are holding two workshops on Research Design for Causal Inference this year.

Main workshop: Monday – Friday, July 7-11, 2014 [at Northwestern]

Advanced workshop: Wednesday - Friday, August 13-15, 2014 [at Duke]

Both workshops will be taught by world-class causal inference researchers. Registration for each is limited to 100 participants. For information and to register: law.northwestern.edu/faculty/conferences/causalinference/

Call for Papers / Proposals

Call for Applications: Fellowships at the Centre for Global Cooperation Research, University of Duisburg-Essen

Käte Hamburger Kolleg / Centre for Global Cooperation Research is pleased to announce its call for applications for fellowships roughly beginning in April 2015. The Centre is an independent research institution of the University of Duisburg-Essen, Germany, sponsored by the Federal Ministry of Education and Research (BMBF). The four research units of the Centre focus on (1) The (Im)Possibility of Cooperation, (2) Global Cultural Conflicts and Transcultural Cooperation, (3) Global Governance Revisited, and (4) Paradoxes and Perspectives of Democratisation (see <http://www.gcr21.org>).

Fellows will join the Centre for a period of six to twelve months. The fellowships provide a working space in fully equipped offices and a competitive stipend commensurate with applicants’ level of professional experience. In order to maximize their engagement with the community at the Centre, during their fellowship terms fellows are expected to routinely spend time in and conduct much of their work from Duisburg, in most cases requiring residency in Duisburg or the Rhein-Ruhr region. They should show interest in contributing to the Centre’s overall line of research and enthusiastically embrace its inter- and multidisciplinary research environment. A successfully completed PhD is required for eligibility for a fellowship.

For an overview of our current fellows as well as Alumni Fellows, please visit: <http://www.gcr21.org/en/fellows/>.

For this call, Käte Hamburger Kolleg / Centre for Global Cooperation Research is especially interested in the following topics:

- Global diasporas and regional movements
- Experimental analyses of international negotiations
- Micro-politics of negotiation processes
- Democracy and post-democracy in a global age
- Dynamics of legal pluralities

Applications (in English) should contain a cover letter, your CV, a concise research proposal (3-5 pages) plus one relevant publication. Please indicate your preferred period of stay.

Please submit your application electronically using our website:

<http://www.gcr21.org/fellows/how-to-become-a-fellow/application-form/>.

The deadline for applications is the 2nd of July 2014. We particularly encourage female researchers and scholars from the Global South to apply. The next call for applications will be issued in October 2014. If you have any further questions, don't hesitate to contact Matthias Schuler, Executive Director (Administration), at <Schuler@gcr21.uni-due.de>.

International Conference on Global Economic Crisis & Public Health Care

Dear Sir/Madam,

You are invited to attend the upcoming International Conference-meeting on Global Economic Crisis & Public Health Care. The events will begin from August 20th – 23rd, 2014 Texas City, U.S.A and August 25th – 30th, 2014 in Republic of Senegal.

The aims of the conference is to bring together researchers and practitioners in an effort to lay a ground work for future collaborative research, advocacy, and program development as well as to educate social service, health care and global financial sectors.

Registration is open to all interested participants; the interested participants are to contact the conference secretariat via Email below for more information and registration, contact the following:

(hr.informationdesk@aim.com).

If you are a holder of an international passport that require visa to enter the United States and Dakar Senegal, you are to inform the event secretary when sending your detail for registration, as the organizers of the event is fully responsible for all visa arrangements and travel assistance.

Call for Papers: 22nd International Conference of Europeanists
“Contradictions: Envisioning European Futures”

Paris, France • July 8-10, 2015

Organized by the Council for European Studies In many historical moments, Europe’s futures have seemed not simply open and uncertain, but replete with contradiction. Similarly, in contemporary Europe, the responses of both ordinary Europeans and the continent’s collective institutions to the challenges posed by crisis again constitute a series of contradictions—many of which reiterate large questions from Europe’s past, while also affecting the ability of social forces to imagine possible futures.

Today, Europe is a space within which the principle of social solidarity appears firmly rooted, yet also one in which the politics of austerity threaten to erode welfare state commitments. It is a context in which supra-national institutions and transnational social connections have progressed far, but also the scene of substantial efforts to reassert nationalism. It is a setting in which many are disenchanted with mainstream politics, yet also challenged by the possible growth of new movements. These and other tensions manifest themselves in individual lives, social relations, institutions, and collective projects.

Thus, for its 2015 conference, the Council for European Studies (CES) invites proposals for panels, roundtables, book discussions, and individual papers that examine such opposing tendencies and, facing forward, consider the many potential futures emerging from the European crisis. We encourage proposals in the widest range of disciplines, and, in particular, proposals that combine disciplines, nationalities, and generations. Although it is not mandatory that papers be related to the conference theme, papers that do so are especially welcome. The Committee will accept only two submissions per person as attendees may only present in a maximum of two sessions.

We strongly encourage participants to submit their proposals as part of an organized panel. Full panel proposals will be given top priority in the selection process by the Program Committee. Participants may find it useful to connect with like-minded scholars through the growing number of CES Research Networks.

Deadlines:

Proposals may be submitted from August 18 to October 10, 2014. Participants will be notified of the Committee’s decisions by December 18, 2014. Information on how to submit will be posted on the Council’s website and disseminated through its newsletter. To subscribe to the CES newsletter, join the CES mailing list today. ## Toronto Political Behaviour Workshop – Call for Papers

This is a reminder of the deadline of June 15 for the call for papers for the second annual Toronto Political Behaviour Workshop.

Call for Paper

Following on the success of last year's inaugural workshop, we are very pleased to announce a call for papers for the second annual Toronto Political Behaviour Workshop, to be held November 7 and 8, 2014.

This workshop will consist of one and a half days of papers. We will also host a seminar on Friday afternoon on text-as-data methods, led by Arthur Spirling, Harvard University.

We will devote one hour to each paper, allowing for plenty of discussion of each scholar's work. This will be a wonderful opportunity to get concentrated feedback from a large group of participants.

There is no registration fee for the workshop. A dinner will be held on Friday night for participants. Refreshments and lunch will be provided on both days.

At this time, we are soliciting proposals for paper presentations. Papers are not at all limited to Canadian politics but should fall under the broad rubric of political behaviour. We are particularly interested in projects that are underway and will be sufficiently advanced to receive useful feedback by the time of the meeting.

Please send paper proposals (or drafts) to Daniel Rubenson (rubenson@ryerson.ca) and Peter Loewen (peter.loewen@utoronto.ca). Proposals should be received by June 15 for full consideration.

A full call for general participation in the workshop will be circulated later in June.

The workshop is generously sponsored by the Department of Political Science at the University of Toronto, the Munk School of Global Affairs, Ryerson University and the Canadian Opinion Research Archive.

Dupont Summit on Science, Technology, and Environmental Policy

The purpose of the Dupont Summit is to promote interdisciplinary dialogue about pressing issues related to science, technology and the environment. The conference mirrors the interest of the PSO and its partners in promoting conversation about current policy concern.

Prominent scholars, government officials, and other experts will be on hand, and we hope you will join in the discussion. Some of our past speakers include former Director of Central Intelligence James Woolsey, the Mayor of Grand Rapids, Michigan George Heartwell, Congressman Robert C. Scott, and Associate Director of Arizona State University's DC Office of the Consortium for Science, Policy, & Outcomes Mahmud Farooque, plus others from various organizations such as the National Science Foundation, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and the National Academy of Engineering, as well as numerous prestigious colleges and universities. Visit our website for more details on the Dupont Summit or view last year's program.

How to Submit a Proposal

In order to submit a paper for consideration, please send a 1-2 page abstract to PSO Executive Director Daniel Gutierrez-Sandoval at dgutierrez@ipsonet.org. Topics of interest include, but are by no means limited to, health, energy, national security, information technology and telecommunications, environment science and climate change, biotechnology, HIV/AIDS, space, and the ethical, legal, and social implications of existing and emerging technologies. The early consideration deadline is October 5th, 2014. Due to space constraints, this year we will be accepting fewer proposals for presentation. Proposals submitted by the early deadline will be given priority.

About the PSO

The Policy Studies Organization disseminates policy scholarship through its numerous academic journals, book series, conferences, and programs.

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact Matthew Brewer (Director of Outreach and Open Source Materials) either by email or by phone: 202-349-9288, brewer@ipsonet.org

Summer Opportunities

One-Day Courses on Research Methods at WC 2014

At the 23rd World Congress of Political Science in Montreal (July 19 to 24), organized by the International Political Science Association, a number of short courses will be offered on July 19, 2014, the day preceding the congress. These courses offer state of the art information about recent advances in research methods in different fields given by renowned international instructors. They should bring together both junior and senior scholars interested in these fields and their recent developments enhancing their respective research networks. The courses are $50 USD and advance registration is required. Each course is limited to 30 participants. The available courses are:

1. QCA and Fuzzy Sets (by Damien Bol)
2. Process-tracing \(PT\) Case Study Methodology (by Derek Beach)

Centre for Migration and Refugee Studies: Summer Short Courses

June 1-26, 2014

The Center for Migration and Refugee Studies (CMRS) at The American University in Cairo (AUC) is offering the following four short courses during the month of June 2014:

- International Refugee Law (June 1 - 5, 2014)
- Protection Challenges among Vulnerable Migrants and Refugees in Transition Times: Egypt as a Case Study (June 8 - 12, 2014)
- Addressing Global Trends: Psychosocial and Mental Health Interventions for Refugees Living the Urban Context (June 15 – 19, 2014)
- Immigration Detention: Challenges of a Growing Trend (June 22 -26, 2014)

The courses are offered for graduate level students, researchers and practitioners in the field of migration and refugees. The maximum number of participants in each course is between 10 - 30. All courses are conducted in English and no translation facilities are provided. Participants should have a sufficient command of the English language.

Interested applicants can apply for one course or for all the four courses. The fee for each course is $ 500. Tuition waiver options are offered only to qualified candidates from the developing countries. However, participants who get tuition waiver are responsible for the cost of their flight to and accommodation in Egypt.

NB: Non- Egyptian applicants are strongly encouraged to apply three weeks before the course start, in order to have enough time to obtain their visa. All courses will take place in the Tahrir Campus in Downtown Cairo. The exact location and room numbers will be forwarded to accepted participants before the start of the courses.

Deadlines for submitting applications for this course:

- For participants who are self-sponsored, sponsored by other organization or their employers: 5th of May
- For Participants requesting tuition waiver: 12th of May
- Deadline for paying course deposit (30% of the total course's fee) is 12th of May
